RINKYDINKS WIN THE WATERMELON

DIRECTOR CUSHMAN ORGANIZ-
ING TENNIS LEAGUE

The grand and coveted prize—a big juicy watermelon—largest that could be found in town—was won by the Rinkydinks baseball team, captained by Kenneth Gothro, in competition with three other teams. The Rinkydinks won five games and lost but one. The standings of the several teams are as follow:

	Won	Lost
Rinkydinks	5	1
Yankees	4	2
Tigers	1	3
Giants	0	4

The Yankees under Captain Emil Kraus, Jr., gave the "melon" winners a hard run for their money and lost the final game, Saturday, by only one run after nine hard innings. That put the Yankees in second place. There is a hot rivalry between these two teams and it may take more games to prove that either team is very much better than the other. In the two games played together the Rinkydinks won one and the Yankees won one and each game had only one run lead.

The Tigers under Captain Alfred DeFain who landed in third place have strengthened their lineup so that great opposition is expected from that team in further contests. The Giants who landed in the cellar position put up a good fight in each of their games but lacked the final punch that wins. Captain George Lietz is on the lookout for a Ruth or two to help them out.

It was a grand contest between these youngsters and while the rivalry was keen still there was the finest of spirit manifest throughout.

To Organize Tennis League

Plans are under way to organize a tennis league. Already there are several aspirants who feel that Tilden and Wills haven't much on them. This too promises to be a sport well worth seeing. There will be both boys and girls singles and doubles and mixed doubles. Coach Cushman asks that anyone interested in getting in on the tennis matches report to him at once. It is hoped that enough girls turn out to organize a league for them also.

These games are being played at the Connie tourist park at the head of Michigan avenue. Coach Cushman is on the job daily to look after the youngsters as well as after the needs of the many tourists that go there.

10:30 a. m. Theme: "Intoxicated."
7:30 p. m. Theme: "Walled-in Generosity."

The children coming home from school, suggest strange and alluring things to our minds. In fact, it has been just one year since a dear, dear friend went into the centre of the universe, and we are still in school.

But the time is coming when school for us will let out, and we shall go home from school and find her waiting smile to greet us. So Bliss Carman, the Canadian poet who recently died sings for us:

After School
When all my lessons have been learned,
And the last year at school is done,
I shall put up my books and games;
Good-bye, my fellows, every one!

The dusty road will not seem long,
Nor twilight lonely, nor forlorn
The everlasting whippoorwill
That lead me back where I was born.

And there beside the open door,
In a large country dim and cool,
Her waiting smile shall hear at last,
"Mother, I am come home from school."

GRAYLING PUPILS ATTEND COLLEGE

At this time of year when schools and colleges are announcing their graduates it is interesting to note the number of our Grayling young people who are continuing their education beyond high school. We find eight out of the twenty-five graduates of 1927 have been going on with their training. This includes Violet Williams, and Clarice Welsh who are taking nurses training at Mercy Hospital, Evelyn Heidemann training in a Chicago hospital, Ada Kidston training at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing, also Margrethe and Ella Hanson who were graduated this June from Miss Bennett's School, Millbrook, N. Y., and Myrtle and Sarah Vance who are enrolled at Central State Teacher's College.

Among the other Crawford County people who spent last winter in schools are: Robert Barber, Carrie Feldhauser, Mrs. Pauline Edmonds, and Mrs. Chas. Gothro at Central State Teacher's College, Earle Gierke at Davenport Business Institute, Grand Rapids, Michigan; Edward Mason at University of Detroit, Paul Hendrickson, Anthony Wayne Institute, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Marie Schmidt, University of Michigan, Matt Bidvia at Detroit Business College, Elizabeth Harder at Junior College in Ferensan, S. D., and Eunice Schrieber at Central State Teacher's College. We are pleased to mention Alice Wellington who was graduated with the highest honors of her class from Central State Teacher's College this last June.

Birds as Shepherds

The yakumik, a species of crane, is used by the natives of Venezuela, South America, in the place of shepherd dogs, for guarding and herding flocks of sheep. However far the yakumik may wander with the flocks, it never fails to find its way home at night, driving before it all the creatures entrusted to its care.

WRITES AGAIN FROM CHINA

INTERESTING LETTER OF CHINA FROM EMERSON BATES

On board M. S. Fulda
Off coast of Korea,
May 19th, 1929.

Dear Ones:

I mailed my last letter to you in Kobe. We left Shanghai last Monday morning and arrived Wednesday about five p. m. off the coast of Itosaki. Altho our trip thru the Inland Sea had been foggy and rainy, still there were times when we had glimpses of what the country looked like, and how wonderful the scenery would be if viewed in good weather. Hundreds of islands, green grass (a rarity in the Philippines) blue water, and all the other items that make up a beautiful scenic effect.

Itosaki as viewed from the ship was a small village along the shore with a couple of factories and a railroad to give it a modern touch. There was no dock so all the unloading had to be done into lighters that were brought alongside. Unloading started almost at once and lasted all the next day. We were unable to get ashore until the next morning when a small motor launch came alongside.

This first glimpse of Japan, a small town made us like it better than what we had seen of China. The place was clean, the people much cleaner and nicer and there was more of a business like manner in the shops. There was a little temple here. But as it started to rain we hurried back on board. That night we sailed for and arrived in Kobe. At five in the morning we were awakened for health inspection by the Japanese port authorities. At 10:00 a. m. I got a couple of rickshaws and we went to a Japanese place where sukiyaki was served. We had been on the main streets until then. Our rickshaws wound around thru little narrow streets and at last stopped before this Japanese place. Several Japanese girls were there and pointed out some cushions on the steps. A Japanese man brought out some slippers so we sat down and took off our shoes. One of the girls led us into a little room whose furniture consisted of two pillows and a low table. A window opened out onto a little Japanese garden. The sides of the room were Japanese panels and a little Buddha shrine was in one corner. The girl who brought us in could say only a few words in English and we were worse off in Japanese. But we did get it across that we wanted sukiyaki. She asked us "chickie sukiyaki?" and when we didn't appear to understand she flapped her arms and crowed like a rooster. So we ordered "chicken sukiyaki." This Japanese dish is about the same as Chinese chop suey, as they make a mixture of all the different things they have in the kitchen altho it tastes much different.

The little table I mentioned had a hole cut in the center of it. Ta Me, the girl who served us, brought a dish full of coals and put it in the hole in the table and then proceeded to make the food. It was interesting to watch her. A pretty little Japanese in kimono and obi, hair done in the quaint Japanese style, kneeling and cooking this food. It was composed of chicken, mushrooms, onions, and about six Japanese foods, none of which I knew and some kind of sauce. She used chopsticks instead of spoons to cook with—and that was all we had to eat with. She gave each of us a dish with a raw egg in it. As the sukiyaki was cooked, she put it on the egg and we ate it, if we could. We could and we did and also I was quite proud of my handling of the chopsticks, for I ate until I was full and never lost a mouthful off the sticks.

After dinner we called a car but as it was a long time coming, Ta Me acted as guide and showed us the whole building. There must have been forty rooms of various sizes, all done in different designs. As for instance, one would be bamboo, the next cherry blossom, another rice, another paintings, etc. It was very interesting. Our chauffeur understood no English and it took us an hour to get home, probably on purpose.

We were disappointed in not seeing more of Japan as we had expected four days in Kobe. However we saw a little of it and enjoyed that little a great deal. Kobe is a business city, taking the place of Yokohama since the earthquake and consequently is very modern.

We sailed Saturday morning early and today noon we sighted Korea. I had hoped to go there but cannot do it. Tuesday night we will be at Taku, the end of our ocean trip and the beginning of our real sightseeing for Peking has more things of interest than the rest of China.

May 22nd
Our boat trip is completed and we are now in Tientsin, planning on moving on the Peking, maybe tomorrow. I mailed you a letter day before yesterday on the boat which will be mailed to you from Shanghai, telling you of our stops in Japan. We arrived at Taku Tuesday. Our trip was very uneventful. We had calm weather all the way and appeared to be sailing past islands all the time, first in Japan, then off the Korean coast, then along the China coast. During the day we were hardly out of sight of land.

The river at Taku forms a big sandbar about ten miles off the coast so our boat had to anchor way out. We left our good ship "Fulda" about noon after thanking all the many stewards with American coins. A tender took us ashore and up the river to Tientsin, a six and a half hour trip. We left Tientsin May 23rd after spending two days there. It is a very international city, troops of all nations being on duty there. Each have their separate compounds enclosed with high walls, with guards on duty at the gates.

There is an American looking street with American buildings, and then the usual native sections. The first person I met in the American compound was a classmate of mine. I also knew the finance officer and the wife of the quartermaster so I felt real acquainted.

At every stop we made on the way to Peking there were many soldiers. We carried a guard on the train and the reason we were late arriving in Peking was because of troop movements. You see Generals Feng Hu Sien and Chang Kai Shek are having a little quarrel again. We were told we could expect developments up this way before the month is over. We stayed the first night in Peking at the hotel Du Nord and the next day we moved to The North China Union Language School. This is a school where any one who wants to learn the language can come, principally missionaries. It receives subsidies from several churches and is able to give their missionaries very low rates, of which I knew and some kind of I will close this letter as it is getting late. We are just about settled. We have a Chinese Amah for the children, two coolie rickshaw boys, a nice little apartment, good dining room service and food, so we have nothing to do but shop, sightsee and enjoy life. We heard a rumor tonight that the "Grant" the boat we sail on from here, is five days late, which if true, will give us until July 3rd in China.

In my next letter I will tell you of Peking, but will say one thing now: Of all the dusty places in the world, this city is second to none. After five minutes in it, your throat is parched, your nose hurts, your eyes smart. If there is a germ anywhere in the city, every one has an even chance of owning it. All are well. EMERSON.

HOUSE FLY IS DISEASE CARRIER

"Instead of a harmless nuisance, the common house fly is now known as one of the most dangerous enemies of mankind," states an article appearing in the current number of "Mish Out-Of-Doors", publication of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. "Flies are pests not so much because they irritate people by repeatedly alighting on their faces and hands, but because they are the known carriers of over 30 disease organisms, including typhoid fever, tuberculosis, cholera, swine-fever, and enteritis." "Removal or destruction of the breeding places of the fly provides the easiest and best method of extermination," the article continues. "Absolute cleanliness and either elimination or proper treatment of refuse is a first necessity in the campaign."

A solution of three teaspoonfuls of commercial formalin and a pint of milk or water sweetened with a little brown sugar is recommended as an effective and safe fly poison. The solution can be exposed by inverting a partially filled glass of the liquid over a saucer lined with blotting paper cut the size of the dish. By inserting a small match stick under the glass, that part of the solution which evaporates can be automatically replaced.

MEDITERRANEAN CRUISE FOR MIDSHIPMEN

According to the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit, the Midshipmen's Training Squadron, which is cruising in the Mediterranean, will visit the ports of Barcelona, Spain; Naples, Italy; and Gibraltar, during the month of July. Nine hundred midshipmen are making the cruise, which will end early in August, when the midshipmen making the cruise will be granted thirty days leave of absence. The squadron consists of the battleships Arkansas (flagship), Utah and Florida and is commanded by Rear Admiral Lanning.

CIRCUIT COURT NEXT WEEK

The summer term of Circuit court will convene next Tuesday afternoon, July 9th at one o'clock. It is expected that this will be an unusually long term, owing to the Mary Wood will case coming up at that time. There will be a number of attorneys, witnesses and heirs present and no doubt it will be an interesting case.

Four criminal cases are on the docket for disposal, three of which are for violations of the prohibition law, Robert Alexander, William Reamer and Mary Blichak being the defendants. The other case is The People vs. Loren Moon for the malicious killing of beasts.

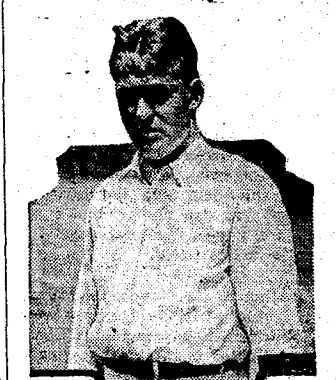

Besides the Mary J. Wood case on the Jury Civil list there is the Malco-Marker case to come up again.

Two chancery cases Lena M. Clothier vs. Ernest E. Clothier, divorce, and Verle G. Sheldon vs. Blanche L. Sheldon, divorce, and three petitions for naturalization Thomas William Clarke, Mrs. Ethel Martha Greenwood and Joseph Mallinger are to be disposed of.

Following is the list of jurors that have been selected for this term:

Chauncey Rogers, Beaver Creek.
Samuel Johnson, Frederic.
Eddie Bugby, Grayling.
A. R. Caid, Lovells.
Henry Verlinde, Maple Forest.

The ELIZABETH ARDEN method — which keeps your skin healthy — will keep it lovely too

NO CREAM transforms the skin. But scientific care, which encourages swift circulation through the tissues and keeps the skin cells vividly healthy, will make your skin clear, soft and firm. This is the foundation of the Elizabeth Arden method. Cleansing the skin—with Elizabeth Arden's Venetian Creaming Cream—removes impurities which clog the pores and cause blackheads. Brisk patting—with Arden's Skin Tonic and Special Astringent—tones the skin and firms the contours. Nourishing—with Orange Skin Food or the delicate Velvet Cream—fills out the skin cells and so corrects lines and wrinkles. Follow this same method in the care of your skin at home.

EDITORS ENJOY OUTING IN DETROIT

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Schumann and daughter Eleanor were in attendance at the annual summer outing of the Michigan State Press association held in Detroit Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week. Headquarters were at Fort Shelby hotel on Lafayette boulevard where 200 newspaper publishers and their wives were afforded the most delightful accommodations.

A visit to the offices of Campbell-Ewald Co., in the General Motors building was especially appreciated by the men of the party. This is the largest advertising agency in the world and the publishers were given an idea of the science in which this work is conducted. This agency employs 600 people in the various departments and occupies a whole floor in the General Motors building.

Most of the publishers found time Thursday afternoon to take in a ball game between the Tigers and Cleveland Indians when they were privileged to see Roy Johnson, the Tiger's star center fielder, hit a homer while the bases were loaded. Mr. Navin sent complimentary tickets to the editors' party.

Most of Friday was spent in a visit to the wonderful proving grounds of the General Motors Co., near Milford, as guests of that company. A much clearer idea was gained from this visit of the magnitude and importance of this place. Here cars were put thru every test that might be necessary in order to prove to the engineers that they would stand the requirements that are expected of them in regular service.

Saturday the publishers were guests of a large Steamship Co., for a trip to Put-In-Bay and return. The trip down the Detroit river and across Lake Erie was delightful and gave the guests an opportunity to view both our own and also the Canadian shore line. Finzel's orchestra furnished music and dancing was enjoyed by most of the party. A banquet was tendered the publishers on the Island and was enjoyed by all the hungry ones for the boat trip had developed a healthy appetite for all. Fox Theatre sent the guests tickets for any and all of their performances while they were in the city. They were greatly enjoyed.

Sunday morning saw just about all the publishers party starting on their homeward journey after three days of most delightful pleasure. A more detailed account of the outing will be published in a later edition of the Avalanche.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS NOTICE

At this time of year when you most wish to work it just seems the hardest time of year to find something to do. But there is a fine opportunity for some of you who are ambitious. Lt. John Croshaw who is in charge of the General's Mess during the encampment has expressed a need for some high school people to wait table and do other necessary things around a mess of this kind. He offers the boys $2.00 per day with board and lodging. They are to begin work July 13. To the girls who are to help with the ladies mess he will pay $10.00 per week with board and lodging. They are to begin work July 10th. The matter of staying nights at the camp is optional with the helpers. If you will call at this office we will put you in touch with Lt. Croshaw. Better get your name in early as there will be a rush toward this chance to earn some summer money.

Brundage further declared his determination to run down all traces of violation of amateur rules by athletes supposedly performing for sport and not commercially.

Comparatively New Letter

The letter J is a comparatively late variant of the Latin I. The form J was developed from I during the Middle Ages, but it was long used in certain positions in the world without regard to the sound as consonant or vowel. J gradually became differentiated from I in function as well as form, but the separation of J as a consonant and I as a vowel was not fully established until the seventeenth century.

Ancients Excelled in Art of Glass Staining

The medieval artists in stained glass tolled like jewelers setting diamonds and rubies. Their ideal was not a pretty picture made transparent, but a window made beautiful. Years of experimenting with various combinations of glass taught them secrets of design which resulted in windows that have never been surpassed.

Glass staining and glass painting are two quite different things. One method is to build up a mosaic of pieces of glass, colored not only on its surface but its very substance. The other is to paint the design upon white or colored glass.

It was in glass making that the ancients excelled. The blue of one school was so vibrant that the workers ground down sapphires to obtain their magic color. The fancy, although popular, is probably fallacious. Nevertheless, the colors of the ancients were so expertly compounded that they blended into a uniform whole in a completed window and never appeared flat or "raw."

The greens, for example, were not a straight mixture of blue and yellow, but a combination of blue and red and yellow in such proportions that they did not fuse into adjoining blues at a distance as do modern blue-and-yellow greens. The reds likewise were distinctive, as they contained alternating layers of red, and green-white gave a mellow softness to light before it reached the eye of the beholder.

Mendelssohn Hailed as Master of Philosophy

As a Jewish philosopher acting the part of a pioneer, Mendelssohn brought about the understanding of the beauty and humanism of the Bible, says a writer in the Boston Herald. He prepared a basis for the development of science and Judaism. His translation of the Pentateuch had inaugurated a new era in the education of the German Jews.

He gave to his brethren the German Bible, by which means he introduced them to the intellectual life of Germany, and thus through it once more into the civilization of the world at large. Mendelssohn has united Jewish and Hellenic life. He was the first to advocate the emancipation of the Jews. By his writings he contributed to a great degree to the removal of the brutal prejudices against the German Jews.

Mendelssohn died on January 4, 1786, and was deeply mourned, not only by his coreligionists, but also by all the learned world. His memory was celebrated as that of a "Sage like Socrates." The greatest philosophers of the day exclaimed: "There was but one Mendelssohn."

May-Day Customs

As far back as the Medieval period in England, Chaucer says, it was customary to go out early on the morning of the first of May, "to fetch the flowers fresh." Hawthorne branches were carried home about sunset amid much merry-making. The name, The May, was given to the Hawthorne, and the ceremony was called "the bringing home the May." A relic of the Roman custom when on May day the goddess Flora was especially honored is seen in the selection of a beautiful village maid to be crowned as queen of the May.

Theoretical Dollar

The term "compensated" or "stabilized dollar" was coined by Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale in his book, "Stabilizing the Dollar." It is a theoretical dollar having a constant purchasing power. The theory of the compensated dollar is to convert the present gold standard into a true commodity standard—that is, to standardize the dollar as a unit of purchasing power. Thus, there would be a gold dollar of constant purchasing power with varying weight instead of a gold dollar of standard weight and varying purchasing power.

What Is Poverty?

Franz Schubert died and left great riches to the world—the riches of beauty translated through the glorious medium of music. Those who came to look into the attic of Schubert declared that he had died in poverty. He was the poor figure of financial tragedy. Lately a bit of his manuscript sold for $5,000. But that does not establish his wealth. The great riches he left are for those who can appreciate them. Men may die without money, but they need not die in poverty in the larger sense.—Grove Patterson in the Mobile Register.

Slay Stone-Eating Germs

Chemical warfare is being waged on germs that are literally eating up big buildings. Scores of organisms that eat stone and other substances have been discovered. Chemicals are sought that will slay the germs without destroying the materials. The germs open the pores in the surface, exposing the material to the destructive influence of the weather. Some bacteria cause erosion in the hardest marble in three weeks.

An Eye for Color

A little girl recently skinned her knee and her mother promptly applied a bright-colored antiseptic. Several days later the mother served cold meats and catsup. The little girl, seeing her father generously helping himself to catsup, demanded: "Mother, I want some meat with mercurochrome on it."

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Why We Stop Growing

The reason we stop growing is because there is a limit to the growth in size of the cells which make up our body. During youth, exercise and nourishment permit cells to grow and multiply up to a certain point. But the "law of growth" prevents undue multiplication in size when the limit is reached. NAVAL RESERVE TO SEE SEA SERVICE

Will Spend Two Weeks on a
U. S. Destroyer.

Washington.—Plans for giving each of the 9,000 naval reservists of the United States two weeks of training at sea during the coming summer have been announced by the Navy department.

Ships from the destroyer squadrons of both the scouting and battle fleets, aided by other vessels assigned for this special duty, will be detailed by the department for the cruises. It was stated.

Destroyers have been selected as training ships, the Navy department explained, because it is to this type of vessel reservists would be assigned in time of emergency. The United States navy now has 108 destroyers in commission and 156 in the laid up fleet. The latter would be manned by the trained reserves in event of mobilization.

Concentration of reservists for the summer cruise will begin July 6 and continue in various naval districts until September. The continental United States is divided into 18 sections. Separate training plans have been made for the reserves of each of them.

Training in division maneuvers, gunnery exercises and ship routine will be given the reservists. During the first week at sea the vessels will be put through individual ship exercises. It was said. Week-end liberty at various ports for the different cruises will follow the first week's training. The second week's schedule will include division exercises, gunnery practice, boat races and signal competition.

The cruises have been planned to take advantage of the week-end half holiday. It was said. Reservists will embark on Saturday afternoon and return to port in time to resume work on Monday morning two weeks later.

Reservists in Atlantic coast and southern naval districts will be taken aboard destroyers of the scouting fleet, usually stationed in the Atlantic. Those from the far West will train on vessels of the battle fleet, whose usual home is the Pacific.

Statue of Savior to Guard Rio de Janeiro

Rio De Janeiro.—A great statue of Christ, to watch over Rio de Janeiro from a 2,200-foot hill commanding the harbor and city, is being built on Corcovado (Hunchback) peak, and will be finished in two years.

This 125-foot figure, which with its pedestal will reach 150 feet above the famous Hunchback, will vie with New York's Statue of Liberty in prominence and will surpass greatly in size the Christ of the Andes, which stands on the border of Chile and Argentina as a symbol of perpetual peace between those nations.

A fund of $720,000, which the statue will cost, is being collected by the Catholic Center of this city. Work was begun two years ago. Thirty workmen are putting up the ironwork for the reinforced concrete pedestal and body, over which will be placed a surface of blue-green tiles. The Christ's outstretched arms will cover 125 feet of width, and can be seen for many miles both on land and sea.

Paul Landowski, a Russian sculptor, designed the monument, and Silva Costa is the architect. It bears the words, "Christ conquered, reigns, rules," in Latin.

Cat Brings Rat Home for Kitten's Playmate

Asbury Park, N. J.—Employees of a Main street grocery store were treated to the unusual spectacle of a rat playing about with Mollie, a local cat, and her four kittens. What made it most unusual is that Mollie is a feline known to be rough on rats, and had just killed two rodents before taking up with this one.

The rat, ungrateful that Mollie had spared his life, tired of his strange playmates and tried to wander away, but Mollie picked him up by the scruff of the neck and returned him among her brood. He climbed up on Mollie's back and went to sleep.

Oil Men Turn to Alfalfa in Search for Riches

Coalinga, Calif.—A California oil company, while waiting for development, is planning to add to its income by planting 100 acres of alfalfa on its holdings five miles from here. This reverses the usual condition in an oil region. Ordinarily farmers are looking to oil development to bring them wealth.

This Proves Bridge Is Dangerous Game

Winslow, Neb.—To the casual player, bridge may appear to be a harmless game, but Miss Ella Durham, a teacher living here, believes it is a strenuous sport. She is suffering from a dislocated arm—the result of playing bridge.

She was dealt an unusual hand. In expressing her surprise and pleasure, she waved her arms in the air and clapped her hands so vigorously that her right shoulder was dislocated. School was closed the next day.

I'LL TELL THE WORLD

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

He was wearing an Alice blue tam perched jauntily upon the side of his head, and she was wearing an Alice blue tam, and their young son was wearing an Alice blue tam, and there was a crowd outside the station also, each member of which was wearing the same sort of headgear. Alice blue was really not his particular color, for he was a brunette, and blue is usually supposed to be for blondes.

"Why does the man wear that funny cap?" an observant youngster inquired of his mother.

"Oh, he's been to some sort of—some sort of—" she didn't complete her sentence, for the child asked another question before she had time to determine the exact species of the thing he had been to, but there was no doubt in anyone's mind that he had, and he was coming home from Seattle covered with badges, which he was displaying with pride to the citizens of Vancouver.

He came from New Jersey, so the legend on his cap indicated, and he was a member in good standing I take it in all sorts of organizations, the insignia of which were attached to various parts of his clothing. There were keys and ivory teeth and jeweled and engraved emblems hanging from his watch chain, and attached to his waistcoat were two or three pins, while decorating the lapel of his coat were buttons and ribbons and a variety of parti-colored announcements which indicated to the curious observer where he had been and what had been going on and whom he had voted for, and how many times he had been to conventions of this sort before. One could almost read his personal history from birth by the badges he wore.

It is a curious habit which most of us Americans have of broadcasting our beliefs and affiliations by the badges we wear. We seem to keep nothing to ourselves. The elderly gentleman just at the other end of the seat in which I am now sitting in the railway station is a clergyman in the Anglican church. It is quite easy to make out from the cut of his garb and the gold cross which dangles from his watch guard. The young man beside him goes to college at Michigan, belongs to the Sigma Nu fraternity and a sophomore social organization and is a Republican. All this he announces to the world by the decorations which adorn his front.

An engineer and a shiriner in one just walked past me. I know by the gold decoration in his lapel and by the Tau Beta Pi key which caught my eye as he went by. He was evidently a good student in college and is not ashamed for everybody to know it.

It doesn't seem exactly modest to be metaphorically shouting as we walk down the street that we are Presbyterians or Elks or members of the plumbers' union, or whatever we do belong to, but there must be some glory or advantage in the custom or not so many Americans would follow it.

Medicine

MR. J. R. FEIGNER

"I was crippled with rheumatism," said Mr. James R. Feighner, Cottage Grove, Highland Park, Michigan. "I could not walk up stairs; it seemed that every joint in my body was aching with pain. I got scarcely any sleep and had to be so careful of what I ate that I was undernourished."

"I took just three bottles of Konjola and then a change came over me that I shall never forget. The swelling in my joints subsided, the pains became fainter and fainter, my appetite improved, indigestion disappeared and today I am feeling like a man completely made over. I think the world should know that there is a medicine like Konjola."

CATCH MOST BROOK TROUT

Splendid cooperation is noted between sportsmen in general and conservation officers in the acquiring of data for the conservation department's creel census cards. The reports received to date indicate that fishing for speckled trout has been quite generally satisfactory with many limit catches reported. The brown and rainbows are reported in lesser numbers. It appears that this season's data will bear out last year's report which indicated that brook trout constituted 85 per cent of the season's trout catch.

OAKLAND SALES IN FIVE MONTHS 55% OF ALL 1928

Sales of new Oakland and Pontiac Sixes for the first five months of this year totaled more than 55 per cent of the entire output during the twelve months of 1928, W. R. Tracy, Vice-president in charge of sales of the Oakland Motor Car Company announces.

As a result of the volume achieved to date, Mr. Tracy stated that every indication points to a new high record for the year, substantially exceeding the previous record of 262,000 units sold during 1928.

Despite a three-day vacation shutdown of the plant during the latter part of May, shipments for the month were 28,444 new Oakland A-1 Americans and Pontiac Big Sixes, according to Mr. Tracy.

The high May figure brings the number of cars shipped to dealers during the first five months of 1929 to 145,868 units, a gain of eleven per cent over the 131,303 cars shipped in the same period last year.

From Earth to Sun

The distance between the earth and sun varies from something more than 91,000,000 miles to something more than 94,000,000. The mean distance is calculated to be about 92,800,000. The earth is nearest the sun in early January and farthest away in early July.

That the distance has nothing to do with the seasons may be seen from the fact that while it is winter in the northern hemisphere, it is summer in the southern. The real reason for the seasonal changes is the fact that the earth's axis is at an angle (23 1/2 degrees) with relation to its path around the sun. At that season of the year when our northern hemisphere is tipped toward the sun, its rays fall more directly upon us, and we have summer.

Rejuvenation

An old man went to a gland specialist and asked how much it would cost to rejuvenate him.

"To make you feel like thirty again. It will cost you $1,000," said the surgeon. "But to make you like twenty-five again will cost $2,000, and anything below that, $5,000."

"I don't care about the cost; just make me eighteen again," said the older. The operation was a success. But when the surgeon sent him his bill the rejuvenated one sent it back with this notation:

"You can't collect from a minor."

Won Astronomical Honors

All the planets except Uranus and Neptune have been known since early times. Uranus was the first planet to be discovered. William Herschel discovered Uranus, and was soon afterward made royal astronomer by George III of England and knighted. The eccentricity of the behavior of the new planet led to mathematical calculations deducing the presence of another planet. Several astronomers exchanged data regarding its calculated position, and Galile of the Berlin observatory was the first to see the planet known to the world as Neptune.

Poor

Tommy was always eager for knowledge, and one day, while walking in the park with his father, he asked the name of a tree.

"That's an elm tree," his father told him.

"Why do they call it an elm?" "Oh, why do they call you 'Tommy'?" asked his father, impatiently.

"Tommy thought for a while. Then he said: 'I don't know—why do they call me 'Tommy,' father?'"

Selling

The smart salesman is the man who creates in his prospect a desire for a certain piece of goods. He lets a bit of sun on the building desire, waters it, and tends it properly, but he doesn't crush it by too much talk.

Grove Patterson, in the Mobile Register.

Closest Radio Station in Virginia Graveyard

There are many strange radio stations in the world, but one of the strangest, perhaps, is the station that is located in a graveyard. The recording feature of the whole thing is the fact that it is not a human but a ship graveyard.

Anchored in the James river near Fort Eustis, Va., are some 200 ships of the Emergency Fleet corporation.

Built for use in the time of the war and now of no use to the government, they are tied up awaiting sale, or death by decay. Tied up in 10 units of 20 ships each, they spread out over this historic river for some five miles.

When the high winds blow down the river, the boats occasionally break away from their units and go drifting down the river, a menace to navigation.

Also, when the high winds blow, the little land phone line that runs to Yorktown is carried away. It is in times like this that the radio station, which is located on the flagship of the fleet, comes into operation. A call is sent to the navy yard at Newport News and tugs are dispatched to return the refractory boat to the fold.

Even in calm weather the transmitter gets an occasional workout by transmitting messages received by phone from the Yorktown mine depot to the navy yard. Fort Eustis, near which this peculiar little station is located, is also the home base of the only railway artillery unit in the United States army.

Washington Put Office Above Personal Regard

When a friend made a personal appeal to George Washington to appoint a man whom Washington did not believe to be competent, the first President said to him:

"My personal feelings have nothing to do with the case. I am not George Washington, but President of the United States. As George Washington I would do the man any favor in my power. As President of the United States I cannot do nothing."

Lincoln said to a visitor who came to the White House in the course of the Civil war and commiserated with him on his trials and his burdens: "It isn't the war that is burdening me and killing me; it is your plagued Pepper post office." I have found this remark quoted in a score of books on politics and government. Jackson and Lincoln, from all accounts, were more besought by office seekers than any other men who have been President of the United States.—Edward G. Lowry in the Saturday Evening Post.

EDITOR ANALYZES E.M.T. INQUIRY LISTS

Al Weber, publisher of the Cheboygan Observer, in a recent issue of his paper, analyzes the list of inquiries which are sent out by the East Michigan Tourist association and finds that one list containing 230 inquiries showed 209 as interested in fishing. Mr. Weber arrives at the conclusion that fishing therefore must be one of the biggest assets of the state and of his particular county.

He then calls attention to the manner in which this asset is being harmed by law breakers who prey upon the fish in the inland lakes and streams.

When we get mail in the air, people in the air, money in the air, and valuable goods in the air, we will have a new country commercially. We will have the same soil beneath us, the same mountains, but a new fast-moving population, a new fast-moving commerce."

And I predict that time will only be ten years hence.

Latent Joy

Latent heat performs a great office in nature. Not less does latent joy in life. You may have your stock of well-being condensed into ecstasies, trances of good fortune and delight, preceded and followed by blank or painful weeks and months; or you may have your joy spread over all the days in a bland, vague, uniform sense of power and hope.—Emerson.

AMERICA'S BUSINESS UP IN THE AIR

By Erwin Greer (President Greer College, Chicago, Ill.)

Airplane traffic will, within three years, bring all parts of the country near to you. Development of the newer sections has already taken on speed, for economic holes are being filled by air-minded men with an experienced eye for opportunities. And the airplane will be the vehicle used.

Why? Because transport lines are now at work changing the map of business. Witness, you skeptical ones, the passenger and freight air traffic between cities comparatively close together. And know that many big business men are using the airplane to commute with.

If the traveling salesman can travel three times as fast by airplane as he can by train and personally meet thirty times as many buyers as he could before, he is certain to do that much more business. For when any man moves at airplane speed he learns how to use each minute advantageously.

Even the hard-boiled, fishy-palmed banker is beginning to take the airplane seriously. Certain banks have kept account of shipping funds and securities by mail, as against the interest saved by more days use of the money. One bank saved $33,000 in one year, on an investment of only $1,200 in the expense of air transport.

Consequently, business men and buyers of all sorts are as eager to get the most intensive use of either their money or the goods they are buying. And they are not content to let money or goods get lazy in delayed transportation.

Peter F. O'Shea, writing in The Magazine of Business, predicts 1949 thusly:

"All the long-distance passenger hauling will be by airplane; all the short-distance passenger hauling by motor busses. Railroads will carry no passengers at all. That will leave trains free to do a continuous stream business in freight. All freight will be speeded up from its present rate so that slow freight may move as quickly as what is now called fast freight."

"When we get mail in the air, people in the air, money in the air, and valuable goods in the air, we will have a new country commercially. We will have the same soil beneath us, the same mountains, but a new fast-moving population, a new fast-moving commerce."

And I predict that time will only be ten years hence.

THE CARE OF YOUR MONEY

THE THREE ESSENTIALS OF A GOOD INVESTMENT

THE CHARACTERISTICS OF A GOOD INVESTMENT

THE INVESTMENT EXPERIENCE OF COURTESY HAS SHOWN THAT THERE IS NO Surer way of meeting this requirement than to invest money in a security representing a first mortgage from income-producing real estate. Land and buildings represent the most permanent and stable form of tangible property. They cannot be removed or stolen. Title to the property can be adequately assured. Insurance gives protection from loss to the property through fire, tornado, or other causes.

The second requirement for sound investment—certainty of income—is also met in generous measure by the pledge of income-producing real estate. Naturally the surest way of providing income will be paid regularly is by making certain that the project in which the money is invested is one which produces a regular income large enough to meet all necessary payments. Income-producing real estate supplies one of the vital necessities of mankind. Men will pay for shelter before paying for many of the less necessary conveniences of modern civilization.

The third requirement, that of fair rate of income, depends to a great extent on the supply and demand of money at the time the project is underwritten, and on the popularity of the kind of loan. When a certain article or commodity is scarce its price becomes higher, but as the supply of the article increases its price goes down. The same is true with money—and thus the rate of interest you receive on a bond is governed accordingly.

The wise investor does not permit a high interest rate to detract him from the far more essential factors of safety of principal and certainty of income. But when he is satisfied that these two qualities are included and a liberal interest rate in addition, he has chosen an ideal security.

If the pacifist were consistent he would be against burglar alarms and watch dogs in his home and would prefer to negotiate an agreement with the burglar after he had entered the home by jimmying the kitchen window.

Today is July Fourth and unless some Chicago gangsters wander up this way we predict it to be a very quiet day. With the strict ban upon fireworks and no local celebration, shall we make it a family picnic, a good day to cut the lawn or shall we help our neighbor cities make whoopee? Whatever it is let's have it.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Jordan, daughters Misses Kathryn and Wilamena and son Jimmy of Melvor, Michigan, were guests of the former's brother Henry Jordan and family last week. On their return home the last of the week they were accompanied by Miss Evelyn Jordan, who remained over the week end.

The forepart of next week the Michigan National Guard troops are scheduled to arrive at Camp Grayling for the annual summer encampment. Extensive improvements have been made at the military grounds for the comfort of the guardsmen and everything is ready for their arrival. The camp is being held much earlier this year than usual, the troops usually coming the latter part of July and leaving the middle of August. We have not learned when the first trains will arrive but it will probably be on Monday, the 9th, a mighty enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson of Portland, Oregon, and their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hawkins and two daughters, Wanda Mae and Jean of San Francisco, Calif. are spending the week at the Axel Nelson cottage at Lake Margrethe. Mrs. J. E. Bobenmoyer has been detained at her home the past few days with an infection in her right foot, but she is getting along nicely and will probably be able to be around again in a few days. Mrs. Bobenmoyer sprained her ankle about three weeks ago and a blister formed from the adhesive tape with which it was bound, infection setting in.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Rich of Chicago have arrived to take up their new duties as chefs at Shoppenagons Inn. Mr. and Mrs. Rich have had a wide experience in that line of work and Manager Cassidy is very fortunate in getting them for, as cooks, they have already proven themselves wonderful.

Mr. A. B. Cook, Jr., of the Fish Division Department of Conservation, visited the Grayling hatchery Tuesday. He was pleased to find everything in running order, and fish looking good. Mr. Zalsman was very much impressed with Mr. Cook, he thinks he is the right man in the right place.

Miss Bernice Corwin, graduate nurse of E. W. Sparrow Hospital, Lansing, Michigan has just finished a very successful four months course in obstetrics at the Chicago Lying in Hospital. She is at present home for a three weeks vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Corwin.

Mrs. Frank Bennett has been enjoying a visit for about ten days from her mother, Mrs. Krolek, and her sister Miss Sophia of Baraga, Mich. They returned home Saturday and Mrs. Bennett and two little sons accompanied them and expect to remain for a month or six weeks.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Dawes Making a Fine Start in London—Progress of Disarmament Plans.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

GENERAL DAWES, our ambassador to Great Britain, is hitting it off mightily well in London so far, conducting himself and the affairs of his high office with the dignity and good sense that would be expected of him. Wednesday the ambassador and Mrs. Dawes attended their first court in Buckingham palace, and the former settled the "knee breeches" question by appearing in full dress evening attire with long trousers, abandoning the precedent set by his immediate predecessors and reverting to what is truly the correct court dress for American diplomats. Mrs. Arthur Henderson, wife of the new secretary for foreign affairs, presented Mrs. Dawes to "Queen Mary, who was escorted by the prince of Wales because of the illness of King George. The ambassador's wife in turn presented a number of American women to her majesty.

In another matter that may seem trivial Ambassador Dawes has done what practically all Americans will admit is the correct thing. He has announced that during his incumbency the American embassy in London will be dry, this being the rule in his own home since long before prohibition, although he does not claim to be a teetotaler. In many of the American missions abroad liquor is still served, but the State department does not permit it to be included in expense bills. Otherwise the department does not interfere in the matter.

General Dawes was the guest of the British Empire Service league at a banquet, being entertained as a representative of America's soldiers and of the American Legion. He said he found in the league's constitution, "named as one of the fundamental objects for its formation, a statement of purpose which I trust is uppermost today in the hearts and consciences of the peoples of the world. It is to further the ideal of comradeship as opposed to force as the arbiter between nations. Let me say that that phrase expresses my chief instruction received from the President of the United States as I left for London to take up duties as American ambassador and enter into official relations with two great English-speaking nations. That phrase expresses the intent of the Kellogg treaty."

Hugh Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium, held a long conference with Ambassador Dawes in London, on order of the State department, and then both of them called on Prime Minister MacDonald. The subject of the talks was the progress of disarmament negotiations, the next move in which must come from Europe. Mr. MacDonald was busy all week preparing the speech from the throne which, it was expected, would announce the place and time for the proposed meeting of the powers for consideration of the disarmament question. In Washington it was believed the naval reduction conference would be held in London in the fall and that the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, would participate. The Italians, it is reported, are ready to enter the party, and this fact will force France to come in, although the French have been clinging to the idea that all disarmament dealings should be managed by the League of Nations.

MAJ. RAMON FRANCO and three companions, who started from Spain on a projected flight to the United States with a stop at the Azores, disappeared immediately after leaving Cartagena and were missing for a week. They had been practically given up for lost when an airplane from the British carrier Eagle spotted them floating in their big Dornier seaplane near the Azores. The aviators were picked up alive and well and taken to Gibraltar. Their plane, slightly damaged, was hoisted aboard the carrier. News of the rescue was received in Spain with wild jubilation for the men had almost been abandoned. The ships and airplanes of four nations had been seeking for them all the week.

DEBATES on the ratification of the French debt agreement will begin in the French parliament about July 14 and will keep Premier Poincaré in Paris, so the meeting of the allies and Germany for adoption of the Young reparations plan, arranged at evacuation of the Rhineland and cleaning up of other war matters is likely to be postponed until late in July. The United States will be invited to the conference, but so far as the proposed international bank of settlement and its operations are concerned, America will keep hands off. This is the decision of Secretary of State Stimson. He said there were no recent developments to change the government's position, which he stated on May 16 was that it does not desire to have any American official participate in the collection of German reparations through the bank or any other agency.

Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany, in an eloquent speech in the Reichstag, made it fairly certain that Germany will accept the Young plan if the allies agree to an early evacuation of the Rhineland, despite the hot opposition of the Nationalists.

RESUMPTION of diplomatic and trade relations with Soviet Russia will be one of the first acts of the Labor government of Great Britain. The Soviet regime was formally recognized by the former MacDonald government, but relations were broken off by the raid on Arcos house, headquarters in London of the Russian commercial mission, made by the Conservative government in May, 1927. MacDonald and his cabinet are seeking the co-operation of all other parts of the British empire in their Russian policy, though their approval is not technically necessary. It was said the cabinet would not renew the trade agreement by which Russia was allowed to maintain a trading organization in London with diplomatic immunity.

FORMAL approval of the Kellogg peace pact was given by the Japanese privy council, but politics entered into the affair to such an extent that the downfall of Premier Tanaka and his government may follow. The expression used by the original signers of the treaty, "in the names of their respective peoples," was explained by the privy council as not interfering with the supreme power of the emperor to make treaties, but Count Uchida, who signed the pact for Japan last August, resigned from the council, asserting he had initiated it thinking that the phrase meant merely "for the sake of their respective peoples." All of which is rather obscure to Americans. The fact is that the enemies of Baron Tanaka are using the treaty as a weapon to force his resignation.

NEWS of the accord between Mexico and the Catholic church was spread all over Mexico, by mail, airplane, radio and every other means, and was greeted with rejoicing by the people. Bells were rung, prisoners released and a general holiday enjoyed. Mr. Pascual Diaz, who had just been made archbishop of Mexico, and Archbishop Ruiz of Michoacan conferred with the government officials and tried to make arrangements for the reopening of all churches on Sunday, the day of St. Peter and St. Paul. However the department of the interior said it would be impossible to complete the necessary inventories before about July 10 and that resumption of the normal functioning of the Catholic church throughout the country would not take place fully before that date. On Friday services were resumed at the shrine of the Virgin of Guadalupe, near Mexico City, the ceremonies being extremely impressive and magnificent. Priests who fled across the border during the troubles are fast returning.

HENRY P. FLETCHER, American ambassador to Italy, has sent his resignation to the President and it has been accepted. Mr. Fletcher, who will sail for home on August 8, has been in the diplomatic service for thirty-one years and has been our representative in Rome for five years. He says he will spend some months in his home in Greencastle, Pa., and that he has no other plans for the future. But it is thought in Washington he will be a candidate for the senate to fill the seat which so far has been denied to William S. Vare. Whatever action the senate takes in the Vare case, a successor to Vare will be elected not later than November, 1932, and maybe sooner if the seat becomes vacant. Mr. Fletcher accompanied Mr. Hoover on his South American trip and many thought he would be selected for secretary of state. It is said he wanted either that place or the ambassadorship to London or Paris. His work as a diplomat has been notable.

Brown of Washington and Lee university who was selected by the anti-Smuth Democratic convention at Roanoke. Not only that, but they also named the entire state slate put up by the Cannon meeting.

Virginia's reorganized form of government, as put into effect under the administration of Gov. Harry Byrd was denounced by Col. Henry W. Anderson of the Hoover law enforcement commission, the convention keynote. The speaker urged the repeal of many laws, especially the ones dealing with elections and Democratic primaries. Professor Brown was put in nomination by C. Bascom Slemp.

IF PLANS submitted to stockholders are accepted, as it is not doubted America is to have a great merger of aviation companies with assets of more than $70,000,000. The concerns to be amalgamated are the Wright Aero-nautical corporation, the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor company, the Keystone Aircraft company and nine or more affiliated concerns. The new company, which will be known as the Curtiss-Wright corporation, will embrace two separate groups of manufacturing companies, the Curtiss group, headed by C. M. Keys, and the Wright group, headed by Richard F. Hoyt, vice president of Hayden, Stone and company and chairman of the Wright Aeronautical corporation. Mr. Hoyt will be chairman of the board of the new company, and Mr. Keys will be president.

The company will have an authorized capitalization of twelve million shares of no par value stock of which two million shares will be class A stock, entitled to a preferential payment of $2 a share annually, and which will be convertible, share for share, into common stock and callable by the company at $40 a share. The remaining 10,000,000 shares will be common stock.

PRESIDENT HOOVER approved the promotion of Brig. Gen. Ralph H. Van Deman to a major general to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Maj. Gen. Harry A. Smith, commander of the Seventh corps area. Brig. Gen. Frank T. McCoy will be appointed a major general upon the retirement of Van Deman, September 8, at the statutory age of sixty-four. Col. George C. Shaw will fill the vacancy in the brigadier general list.

Pineapple Canning

The canning of pineapple began in this country about the early '80s, the supply of fruit being brought chiefly from the West Indies and delivered in Baltimore, where, for the most part, the canning was done. The canning of pineapple in the Hawaiian Islands began about ten years later.

The time has now arrived when the small boy begins to count the days until county fair week.

Ginkgo Tree Only One

That Has No Enemies

Only one species of plant life now growing in the United States is without an enemy trying to take its life, Dr. William A. Taylor, chief of the bureau of plant industry, reported to the house appropriations committee during hearings in Washington.

"This unmolesated tree is the Japanese ginkgo tree," Doctor Taylor stated. "So far as we know this tree has no insect or fungus enemy at the present time."

On a driveway leading to the United States Department of Agriculture buildings the street is lined on both sides with the ginkgo trees. In the fall they present a striking appearance, for as the yellow leaves fall they heap up on the sidewalks like piles of gold.

The ginkgo tree has a fruit, but one which the white man scorns. The nut inside is rather tasty, but as Doctor Taylor said, "It is surrounded by a most abominable smelling and tasting pulp. It smells more like salt-rising bread in the process of fermentation than any other thing. Chinese laundrymen pick up the fruits, take them home, clean them and eat the kernels."—Kansas City Star's Science Service.

Last British Invasion

French Practical Joke?

The last invasion of England by an armed enemy force was on February 22, 1797, when a French army of 1,400 men, under General Tate, landed at Fishguard with an idea apparently of conquering Wales. The whole affair proved farcical. Lord Cawdor hastily gathered together the local militia, and hundreds of women, dressed in the national costume, red mantles and beaver hats, accompanied their men folk, whereupon the invaders, concluding that large reinforcements had reached Fishguard, hastened to make unconditional surrender. Tate was an American, many of his officers were Irish, and more than half his men were convicts released to help to equip the expedition. There were not wanting cynics, who declared that the French government had planned the whole affair with the sole idea of getting 1,400 incorrigible ruffians boarded and lodged at the expense of the British.

Great Forests on Pacific

Nowhere in the world are there such magnificent forests as those found along the immediate coast north of San Francisco, says the American Tree association. West of the Cascade and coast ranges the mild climate, heavy rainfall and generally humid atmospheric conditions have resulted in the production of a forest that is more wonderful in the density of its growth and the majesty of its development than is to be found anywhere else. The sequoias of California are the giants of the vegetable kingdom. The Douglas firs, Sitka spruces and the giant arbor vitae (western red cedars) of Oregon and Washington are second in size only to the sequoias.

Fish-Oil Ice Cream

Ice cream made from fish oil, snow and sugar recently was an unexpected winter dish of Eskimos of Alaska. The odor was strong but the dish is said to have tasted better than it smelt. Eskimos caught great numbers of eulachon, a species of small which is sometimes called the candlefish because it contains so much oil. These they placed in holes lined with heated rocks, and after the fish were cooked they were placed in covered baskets on which the women trod with bare feet to extract the oil. During cold weather the oil has much the consistency of butter. To make the ice cream, the oil was melted and sugar and snow were added, then stirred in.

Why Borah Couldn't Come

The Golden Book recounts the story of how Mrs. William Borah, wife of the senator, arrived alone at a diplomatic breakfast in Washington during the late days of the Coolidge administration when the Kellogg anti-war treaty was still in process of negotiation. Asked by Secretary of State Kellogg what had become of her husband, the gentle and literal Mrs. Borah replied:

"He said that if you asked for him, Mr. Kellogg, I was to say that he is at home working on your d-d treaty."

One Thing Certain

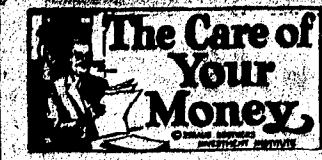

Some questions will forever remain unsolved. A back East physician once told a colored woman who had called to consult him in regard to an ailment, that her vitality was much run down. "Suppose," said he, brightly, using one of Doctor Holmes' questions for the purpose, "you were packed in a barrel of snow. How much of it could you melt?" The lady shivered. "Ah, dunno," she replied fervently, "an' what's mo', Ah ain't never goin' to find out."—Portland Oregonian.

Hernandez Found Dahlia

It was in 1570 that Philip II of Spain sent Francisco Hernandez to Mexico to compile an official report of the tree and plant life of New Spain. He sent seeds to the director of the Royal Botanic gardens in Madrid, who, says Nature Magazine, disseminated the dahlia throughout Europe. Hernandez found the dahlia, not as a wild flower, but in the cultivated gardens of the Aztecs.

Old-Time School Athletics

An old-timer was complaining that the schools devote too much time to athletics nowadays. "Well," someone asked, "what did you old-timers do when you went to school?" "We had fights," replied the old resident.—Glen Elder (Kan.) Sentinel.

The Care of Your Money

STOCKS VS. BONDS

The safest method of investing your money so that it will earn more money for you is in the purchase of good bonds.

So many people fail to distinguish a bond from a share of stock that this article pointing out the main differences should prove helpful.

A bond is a note of indebtedness signed by an individual or a corporation promising to pay back the amount of the bond with interest.

In the case of a mortgage bond, the payment is secured by a mortgage. "A death grip" on property backing the investment.

A share of stock, on the other hand, is a mere certificate of ownership in a corporation. The holder actually owns a portion of the business and has a right to determine the corporation's policy by vote, and to share in its profits.

The investor in bonds loans his money to the corporation and receives a bond in return. The stockholder, on behalf of the corporation, promises to pay it back and mortgage the property as security.

The first mortgage bond is the highest form and is outstanding in so far as the mortgage is the bondholder's safeguard. It has many advantages of safety over stocks.

Bond interest and principal must be paid when due, otherwise the mortgaged property may be taken over and operated for the benefit of the bondholders or the mortgage foreclosed and the property sold, the proceeds being used to reimburse the bondholders.

Dividends on stocks are only paid if sufficient funds remain after all expenses and debts of the company have been settled (including interest to bondholders). And in the case of liquidation the stockholder receives payment only after the bondholders and other debtors have been paid.

The holder of a share of stock shares the success or the failure of the enterprise. The bondholder secures safety because in the matter of precedence, his mortgage bond has prior claim over all other securities.

Other advantages of bonds over stocks are:

Bonds are more acceptable as collateral.

The value of a bond does not fluctuate the way stocks do. Stocks may fall $10, $20, $30, $50 a share within a few months, while bonds rise and fall very slowly and within very narrow limits.

The person with a limited amount of money to invest plays safe and secure by buying bonds. The chief requisite of a good investment is maximum amount of safety, and it is a well known fact that first mortgage bonds are much safer than stocks in general.
